

difference between a delegate and a lambda expression

Delegate: a type that can reference a method

Lambda: a syntax sugar to an anonymous function

---

Why is var still statically typed

Because the compiler can determine the type in compile time based on the assigned value

---

anonymous type scenario example

When u need a temporary object to store data without the need to create a whole class